

CR-650 is a high molecular weight powdered copolymer designed to provide viscosity, cuttings encapsulation, stabilise reactive clays and shale, enhance bore-hole stability and improve core recovery. CR-650 is extremely versatile used in all methods of drilling that will also improve the lubricating properties of the fluid and act as a mild flocculant.